To-night's Opera, "MEFISTOPHELE"

THE CAST.

Faust.....Robert Lassalle
Mephistopheles.....Leon Shiffrin
Marguerite.....Emma Garces
Wagner.....C. Stroeve
Pierrette.....Marie Claret
Elena.....Carmen Hill
Pierrette.....Marie Claret
Martha.....Marie Claret

When the curtain rose to-night upon the first performance of the opera season of 1910-11, Boston will be introduced to two artists who have never before sung in America, and one whose voice has never been heard in this city although she has a reputation for herself as a member of the Hammarsten company in New York. The latter is Carmen Maria dramatic soprano, who will sing the role of Helen of Troy.

Leon Shiffrin is reported to be the operatic find of the year. He is a man of gigantic stature and imposing presence with a great bass voice which has carried him to the top of Europe to a very brief time. He will sing Mephistopheles and it was to display him in this great role that the Boston opera was selected for the opening of the season.

The third unknown is Robert Lassalle, the tenor who has learned the role of Faust in eight days in order to take the place of Constantine and permit the performance to take place. Lassalle is a young man who gave evidence at the dress rehearsal of possessing a splendid voice. He is a Frenchman and the son of one of the greatest of all operatic buffoons.

Emma Garces, who sings Marguerite, is the wife of the celebrated director of the Metropolitan Opera in New York, and is a local favorite for the singing level. She is a local favorite for the singing level. She is a local favorite for the singing level.

Pneumonia to be feared more than death from gun shot.

The frequent changes of temperature in the fall and winter months are the source of much discomfort and destruction of human life. It is a fact that pneumonia is the most common cause of death in this season.

COOPER TO LIVE UNTIL NOV. 23

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The execution of Dr. H. H. Crippen, who was convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore Crippen, was today postponed until November 23.

This announcement was made in the wake of sensational allegations which came from the United States, stating the belief that Belle Elmore Crippen still lives and that she has been seen either in or near Chicago. Barristers Arthur Newton and Alfred Todd, who had previously abandoned hope for Crippen, when the appeal was dismissed on Saturday, renewed their efforts today with renewed vigor. They held a conference with the judges in chambers this morning.

According to American cables, Francis Todd, a Philadelphia lawyer, has advice in his possession that Mrs. Crippen had fled to England, going to America, where she was first seen in San Francisco. She was seen in other Western and Southern cities and finally in Chicago. Shifting under an assumed name, according to Todd, who claims to have letters to support his claims.

Seek All The Facts.

Before the formal announcement of the postponement there were rumors that Todd's evidence was being investigated by the English criminal law. The English criminal law is being investigated by the English criminal law. The English criminal law is being investigated by the English criminal law.

Bay Belle Elmore is Alive.

The postponement also gave time for the Home Secretary to go over all records in the case in order to ascertain whether or not there is ground for commutation of Crippen's sentence. A cable, later on with Mr. Todd's evidence, has been given for the possibility that the State Department of the United States government may take a hand in preventing the execution until further time had been given for the investigation of all reports.

NO ROOM ON THE EARTH FOR IDLE RICH AS CLASS

A thoroughly idle man is a great curse to the community. His days are numbered, and he is doomed to pass away from the face of the earth. I have stated and thought a great deal on this subject for many years, and the result has been the manuscript that I have written, wherein I have tried to prove that owing to the process of evolution, there is now no room for the idle rich, and that they are, as a class, doomed. Frederick Townsend Martin, New York society leader and famous writer.

DEMOCRATS SEE GENERAL GAINS

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—While the results of the elections tomorrow in many of the Western and Middle Western States are extremely doubtful, both parties to day are claiming victories.

The Congressional campaign headquarters, both Democratic and Republican, have been busy trying to get a line on the probable results. The Republicans are a little less confident and the Democrats a little more so than they were a month ago.

Democrats Claim 219 Seats.

Political changes in the personnel of the next Congress have been figured out in Washington. The Republicans are expected to have 219 seats in the House, against the 177 for the Democrats. The Democrats are expected to gain in Utah, Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Nebraska.

Republicans Fear for Iowa.

While platforms have been sent right off in the night on the national Democratic administration. The fight between Republicans and Democrats is now on in many of the States.

Expected Gains in Missouri.

Missouri is having a congressional election. The fight between Republicans and Democrats is now on in many of the States.

FORMER SHOW GIRL NOW BRIDE OF FRANK GOULD

Edith Kelly Gould.

GOULD AND BRIDE TWICE WEDDED

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Frank J. Gould was twice wedded to Edith Kelly, the former New York show girl. It has just become known. The first union was by civil contract in Paris last August and the second, by Scottish law at Edinburgh, Mrs. Gould was disappointed with the French ceremony.

Gould's second marriage will not affect the provisions of his divorce decree relating to the custody of the children now in the hands of their mother. It was their mother's wish to give her the custody of the two little girls during the winter. In order to prohibit their father from having the children's custody during the six months to which the divorce is limited, it would be necessary to prove that their mother's wish was not in their best interests.

Mrs. Helen Kelly Thomas has released all her former interest in Frank Gould's estate. This will enable him to sue her for the interest in the estate of the court in the event of her death.

DAUGHTER SEES
MOTHER SHOT DOWN

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 7.—While her eighteen-year-old daughter, Gertrude, frantically tried to stop her mother from shooting her, Mrs. J. W. Thomas shot her down.

EARLY ELECTION JOY

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The lid will be on and the Great White Way will be dry, very dry, early Wednesday morning. An announcement was made today that applications for prohibition to stay open for the next day have been refused. No drinks can be legally sold after 1 a. m.

WHIPPING POST FOR WIFEBEATERS SAYS POLICE HEAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—I favor the establishment of the whipping post for wifebeaters and pocketbook snuffers. My opinion is that it would be a deterrent and that it would seldom have to be put to use. This statement was made today by Chief of Police Sylvester.

TAFT WILL VOTE, THEN SEE CANAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Taft leaves Washington this afternoon for the Canal Zone. He will vote tomorrow morning. After passing six hours in his home city he returns by fast train to Washington, where he is due early Wednesday morning. That will be the President's last day in Washington until he returns from his trip to Panama.

The Common Law

The problem that "Kelly" Neville and Valerie West solved was complicated by the social position of the one and the lack of social position of the other.

The problem that their love forced them to face was a struggle between snobbish Fifth Avenue and artistic Bohemia.

GREAT EDUCATIONAL COMPETITION FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

OF BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS

To the Boy or Girl Sending in the Greatest Number of Correct Answers to 77 Picture Charades to Appear One Each Day in the Daily and Sunday Boston American.

SECOND PRIZE $200

THIRD PRIZE $150

FOURTH PRIZE $100

AND SEVENTY-SIX OTHER CASH PRIZES AGGREGATING

TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS

Here is an opportunity for the boys and girls of Boston and New England to devote their leisure moments to a contest that will be beneficial to them both mentally and financially. Five hundred dollars is a prize worth striving for. It may be the means of obtaining a college education for you, or starting you on the road to fortune. And because school work is now on and play should be as helpful to studies as possible, the words selected for the picture charades are mostly words that you are all learning about—in geography, the names of cities, towns and rivers; in history, the names of men and places important in the making of our country; in animal and plant study, the names of the things you are reading about. To add a spice of fun, the titles of many of the latest popular songs are included.

THE PRIZES WILL CONSIST OF $2000, DIVIDED AS FOLLOWS:

CAPITAL PRIZES

$500 to the boy or girl, irrespective of residence, sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.
$200 to the boy or girl, irrespective of residence, sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.
$150 to the boy or girl, irrespective of residence, sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.
$100 to the boy or girl, irrespective of residence, sending in correct answers to the fourth greatest number of picture questions.
$50 to the boy or girl, irrespective of residence, sending in correct answers to the fifth greatest number of picture questions.
$25 to each of ten boys or girls, irrespective of residence, sending in the next most correct answers.
$10 to each of ten boys or girls, irrespective of residence, sending in the next most correct answers.
$5 to each of ten boys or girls, irrespective of residence, sending in the next most correct answers.

SPECIAL DISTRICT PRIZES

BOSTON AND METROPOLITAN DISTRICT

$50 to the boy or girl living in Boston or Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.
$25 to the boy or girl living in Boston or Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.

$10 to each of two boys or girls living in Boston or Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.

$5 to each of five boys or girls living in Boston or Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the next greatest number of picture questions.

MASSACHUSETTS

OUTSIDE METROPOLITAN DISTRICT

$50 to the boy or girl living in Massachusetts outside the Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.

$25 to the boy or girl living in Massachusetts outside the Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.

$10 to each of two boys or girls living in Massachusetts outside the Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.

$5 to each of five boys or girls living in Massachusetts outside the Metropolitan District sending in correct answers to the next greatest number of picture questions.

MAINE

$50 to the boy or girl living in Maine sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.

$25 to the boy or girl living in Maine sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.

$10 to each of two boys or girls living in Maine sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.

$5 to each of five boys or girls living in Maine sending in correct answers to the next greatest number of picture questions.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AND VERMONT

$50 to the boy or girl living in New Hampshire or Vermont sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.

$25 to the boy or girl living in New Hampshire or Vermont sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.

$10 to each of two boys or girls living in New Hampshire or Vermont sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.

$5 to each of five boys or girls living in New Hampshire or Vermont sending in correct answers to the next greatest number of picture questions.

RHODE ISLAND AND CONNECTICUT

$50 to the boy or girl living in Rhode Island or Connecticut sending in correct answers to the greatest number of picture questions.

$25 to the boy or girl living in Rhode Island or Connecticut sending in correct answers to the second greatest number of picture questions.

$10 to each of two boys or girls living in Rhode Island or Connecticut sending in correct answers to the third greatest number of picture questions.

$5 to each of five boys or girls living in Rhode Island or Connecticut sending in correct answers to the next greatest number of picture questions.

No matter where you live, you have an opportunity to compete for the capital prizes, and, in addition, the special prizes for the section of New England in which you reside. Thus it is possible for you to win two prizes, the first prize of $500 for the largest number of correct answers in all New England, and $50 for the largest number of correct answers received from your district. If the capital prizes are won by boys or girls from outside your district, you still have an opportunity to win one of the prizes offered for the section wherein you reside.

HERE IS THE FIRST CHARADE. STUDY THE PICTURE AND FIND WHAT IT REPRESENTS. Keep your answers until you have your full set.

All you have to do is to guess the right answer to each one as it comes out. None of them will be very hard; there will be no catch about any of them, and after you have looked over the list several times you will begin to be familiar with many of the words. This will make the game grow easier, and your lessons, too. Incidentally, your wits will be sharpened, your powers of accurate observation strengthened, and you will have no end of fun.

The prizes are, of course, the main object, and they are worth not a little effort. Five hundred dollars is more money than most boys or girls can earn by a year's hard work. It will enable you to take almost any trip you would like or to buy anything within reason you have set your heart on. Or it can be invested for you in such a way that you will get $20 every Christmas time for presents or whatever else you need, leaving the lump sum of your prize till you are older.

If the little boys and girls think they are at a disadvantage with the older ones, let them ask their brothers and sisters or parents or friends to help them. Any contestant is allowed as much assistance as he or she may need. The American wants every boy and girl to have an equal chance. And as no one but the artist who makes the pictures and the Educational Contest Editor will know the correct answers without guessing them, there need be no fear of any unfairness.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST

READ CAREFULLY

1. Fill out the blank with your own name and address and have it endorsed by your teacher or some reputable citizen and mailed to the Educational Contest Editor, Boston American. The contest is open to every boy and girl in Boston and New England under the age of eighteen.

I desire to enroll as a contestant in the Boston American Educational Competition and certify that I am under 18 years of age. I agree that any false statement as to my age may be sufficient cause to debar me from the contest and forfeit any prize I may win.

COMMENCE AT ONCE!

Tell your Newsdealer to deliver you THE BOSTON AMERICAN every day, so that you may get all of the Puzzle Pictures and Win a Prize.

Booklets containing the lists from which the titles of the picture charades are selected are being printed and may be secured by sending ten cents in stamps to the Boston American. One of these booklets will be a great help to you in solving the puzzles.

2. Do not send in your answers every day. Keep them until you have solved the entire seventy-seven charades, and then send them in a week after the last picture appears.

3. You can give as many answers as you please to each picture, but each answer must be written on a different coupon.

4. The prizes will be awarded for the most correct solutions upon the fewest coupons. The highest possible score is seventy-seven answers for seventy-seven coupons. But one point will be scored for a correct answer to each picture, so don't send in more than one coupon containing the same answer.

5. The first prize will be $500 in cash for the greatest number of correct solutions. The second will be $200, the third $150 and then seventy-six other prizes, making a total of $2,000.

6. In the event of two or more persons having the same number of correct answers, the person using the smallest number of extra coupons will be declared winner. In the event of two persons having the same number of correct answers and using the same number of coupons, the person whose set of answers is most neatly prepared in the opinion of the editor will receive the cash prize in each case.

Contestants may send in as many answers as they may choose to any of the puzzle pictures, but all answers must be on coupons clipped from the Boston American.

7. There will be seventy-seven pictures published, one each day of publication, daily and Sunday. All you have to do is to tell what each picture charade represents, giving the name of the city, town, river, song, or whatever it may be.

8. Preference will not be given to early lists, but all must be sent in within one week after the last picture appears.

9. Awards will be made by the Contest Editor, whose rulings and decisions shall be final. The correct answers to the series of pictures will be deposited with the First National Bank of Boston a week previous to the close of the contest.

10. A book containing the lists from which the titles of the picture charades are selected will soon be ready. Send ten cents to the Boston American Educational Contest Editor to cover cost and postage, and a booklet will be sent you. If you find your answer in the list it is possible that you have the right one. If it is not in the list you must try again, for all the correct answers are contained in the booklet.

Children of Boston American employees only are barred from competing.

BECOMING NO DISGRACE FOR "CON" O'KELLY

By Ed. W. Smith.

Just as a time when O'Kelly, Tommy Ryan's young heavyweight star, was going along at his best, along came a rule change and ruined the evening for him and his friends here over the Irishman's side. The colored man was Hank O'Kelly, a veteran at the game.

O'Kelly managed to stagger through the early stages under severe punishment, and at the finish was outwrestling and outmanaging the veteran so well that he scored a draw with him.

"Things had been going along nicely with me up to this time and the referee wouldn't hurt him a bit. As a matter of fact, it was a bit of good because it will show him what he may expect in the future."

It also served as a good demonstration to Ryan. Tommy long had sought an opportunity of finding out whether O'Kelly was a man or not.

Tommy said that his contest decided the matter. O'Kelly had been in the ring with him and again under the lash and came back for more.

Griffin Dangerous Man.

O'Kelly wouldn't be a bit ashamed of what happened to him in that ring with Griffin. He has long been known as one of the most dangerous men in the business.

Indeed, it is not a bad guess. If the truth could be told, that is what Griffin was when he was in the ring with O'Kelly. He was a man who was known as a dangerous man in the business.

Griffin fought in such desperate fashion against Griffin that the latter was forced to take a lot of punishment, and more than once narrowly escaped being toppled by the last under of every blow.

It was not long after that, or when Griffin was in the ring with O'Kelly, that he was present in the ring with O'Kelly. He was a man who was known as a dangerous man in the business.

BOUT AT A. R. A.

It looks like a good match at the Armory Club to-morrow, when Sailor Burke and Frank Klaus will meet in the main bout. Both are expert, strong, ambitious and aggressive, and the club members are sure to see a sensational battle.

There will be a number of surprises when Burke enters the ring. When he has gone under the management of Tom O'Kelly, he has improved greatly, and is today a good competitor for pro boxer.

DE ORO TO PLAY ALL COMERS HERE AT POOL

By Ed. Cogswell.

Charles may come and go, but it is a fact that through it all one will be able to see Alfred de Oro in the pool hall. He has been his day for some time in playing the three-ball billiard table. He has that correct now and in the future.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING TO BROWSE ON THANKSGIVING?

—MELVIN WILLIAMS

I dropped into 96 Court Street Saturday afternoon to hit my weekly drag from the till. As usual, both Mr. Gale and Mr. Kent were busy waiting on customers and making everybody feel perfectly at home.

This old home feeling must have caught Mr. Kent in the eye, because he drove me into a corner of the shop, behind a bolt of Irish tweeds and spoke thus:

"Melvin," he said, "is a tear-erupt out of his right eye and half way down his cheek, and then crept back again. 'Melvin, my boy, Thanksgiving will soon be here.'"

"Quite true," I answered. "Does Mr. Gale know about it?"

"Right well he does, 'Mel,' my lad, and so does everybody."

"All the patrons of Gale & Kent know it. From now until the Saturday before Thanksgiving we should be very busy indeed getting the men folks all rigged out for the trip home."

"You know how it is yourself. Getting onto the crowded train with your grip full of old junk to hand the folks. Shoveled the trunk through the twilight, mis after mile, and the brakeman shouts 'Franklin' or 'Putnam' or 'North Berwick,' or whatever station you kick off into the old baggage—a ride through the old town, up to the farm house—growing from the dear old Thanksgiving Eve in the country. Ah! Melvin—"

I interrupted him at this point to say, "Don't weep on that piece of wood, Mr. Kent," but he went right along.

"And the next day! Thanksgiving with the old folks. The turkey on the big yellow platter, stuffed with his own father wouldn't recognize him—the cranberry sauce—the pumpkin pie—the mashed potatoes and turnips—the plum pudding—the glass of cider—the hot biscuits—the flurry of snow against the window pane—the crackling logs in the old fireplace—ah! Williams, old son, there's nothing to it but happiness!"

I ducked me to sell a man a suit of clothes that I heard he was suffering with all that food on it. I was just beginning to feel a little squeamish about the eyes, myself.

"I wouldn't mind being turned loose with a full set of surgical instruments to see what I could do to alleviate a table suffering with all that food on it."

With all our joshing, Mr. Kent is right about Thanksgiving. Every man should take pride in his appearance, and whether he goes home and gets a real turkey or sits in a restaurant, getting a victim of the cold storage tricks of the year 1895, he should be as well dressed as a turkey, anyhow.

Gale & Kent, the 96 Court Street clothing firm, will make you a suit (or overcoat) for $25 to $35, a suit equally well made will cost you $40 to $45 anywhere else in Boston. You needn't take my word for it. Use your own judgment. If you are not satisfied in every way with the clothes you wear, get them back and get your money in less time than it takes to read this guarantee.

They are open evenings. They have been in business for 18 years, and they will be in business for many years to come.

Get a new wardrobe before Thanksgiving and you will surely have something for which you can give Thanks, the 200th year since the Pilgrims landed.

They're Making Dents in Their $3,000 Roll

82 AND 83 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, NOVEMBER 7, 1910

By H. A. MacGILL

Grandson of the founder of the Springfield Republican and a Harvard graduate.

ONE evening last Fall at dinner in the New York Harvard Club I asked Roy Wallace, secretary of the Chil-

whether that be the Sing Sing Star of Hope or the New York Evening Post; but the healthy growth of his paper lies next to the heart of every normal newspaperman, and I know that their paper's lack of growth is a more burden to more than one

To-morrow is election day. Do not forget that, Mr. Voter.

The right to vote is the highest privilege of American citizenship. It should be esteemed and appreciated as the most imperative duty of American manhood.

Freedom of expression, through the ballot, of a man's choice of the officials has cost too much to be neglected.

Exempt for total physical and mental disability no man should be excused from voting. The man who disfranchises himself by willingly staying away from the polls should be fined for the first offense, jailed for the second, and for the third offense deprived of the privilege of voting for a time.

The American urges the election of Foss and Cassidy, the defeat for re-election of every Congressman who supported Cannon or voted for the Payne-Aldrich tariff, the election to Congress of John J. Mitchell in the Fourth and Thomas Thacher in the Fourteenth districts, and the defeat of every candidate for the Legislature who favors re-election of United States Senator Lodge.

Mr. Voter, this is the last word with you. To-morrow, with your secret ballot, your decision will be rendered. You have heard the evidence and the arguments of both sides and you have about made up your mind what to do.

If you have decided to vote for Foss and Cassidy and Progressive candidates for Congress and the State Legislature, the only possible effect of this editorial will be to strengthen you in your decision.

If you are undecided or can see no harm in voting for Draper and Frothingham and other Republican candidates, we ask you to consider a few facts and reasons which, in our opinion, should convince you that this year you ought to vote the Democratic ticket.

Governor Draper and Senator Lodge have said that the Republican tariff is in no way responsible for the steep prices you pay for food, clothing and shelter and that the high cost of living is not an issue in this campaign. You know better than that.

We submit that one of the thoughts that should be uppermost in your mind when you go into the polling booth is that the party responsible for the high cost of living should be rebuked, and that the only way to do it is to vote against the Republican candidates.

If you believe that this election should be determined solely on State issues, we say to you that a study of Governor Draper's record shows that he has worked hard to secure special benefits for corporations which are in the habit of seeking special privileges; and it also shows that the things he has failed to do for the benefit of the people far outnumber those things which he has done.

You should keep in mind that Lodgeism is one of the principal causes of the high cost of living; that Lodgeism and high prices for the necessities of life are political blood relations; that there is no difference between Lodgeism, Cannonism and Aldrichism; that they all mean the same thing—special legislation for the benefit of the Special Interests at the expense of the general public.

The election of Governor Draper would be an endorsement of Senator Lodge. They are political twins. Draper is unreservedly committed to the policies which Lodge favors and for which he has fought during his entire political career.

Republican speakers and newspapers claim that the election of Fess and Cassidy would have no effect upon the tariff. You know better than that. They know better than that.

The election of the Democratic candidates for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor would be the sharpest kind of a demand upon Congress for a revision of the tariff in the interest of the people.

It would be a warning, which the Republican members of Congress would not fail to heed, that they must keep the promise of their national platform—to revise the tariff downward.

Therefore, it is the duty of men who think more of their families than they do of partisanship to vote for Foss and Cassidy. And that is not all. They should vote right down the line for every candidate for the General Court who is opposed to the re-election of Senator Lodge.

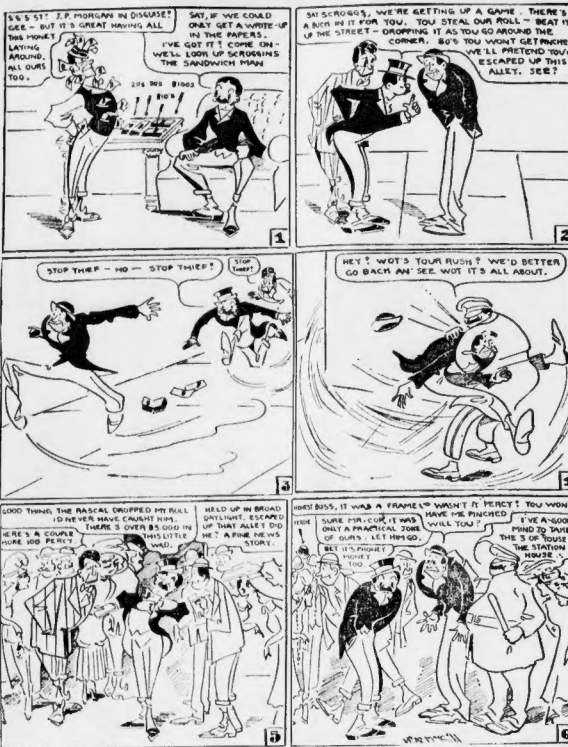

The voters of Massachusetts may feel assured that, should Eugene N. Foss be elected Governor, one of the first acts of his administration would be to request the Legislature to memorialize Congress in behalf of an immediate revision of the tariff in such a way that the cost-of-living burdens, which rest so heavily upon the shoulders of the people, would be lightened.

Governor Draper would not do that. Lodge would not permit him to do such a thing.

Mr. Voter, do you want a man in the Governor's chair who will use the great influence of his office upon Congress in an effort to correct the abuses of the present tariff law, and do you not want to give such a man the benefit of the counsel of an able, patriotic Lieutenant Governor, such as Thomas F. Cassidy would be?

Keep those thoughts in your mind, Mr. Voter. If the Republicans have suggested any that are better, we fail to recall them.

Vote for the benefit of your home this time and not for the benefit of the Trusts which are the only beneficiaries of Republican legislation.
